

Dhamandeep (Duh-mun-deep) Judge is a regional advisor consultant with Columbia Threadneedle Investments in Washington and Northern Idaho. He is a frequent speaker on retirement planning topics (social security and workplace compensation) and investor behavior (behavioral finance). He started his career in financial services 15 years ago and joined Columbia Threadneedle in 2011.

He lives in the Bellevue area with his wife, Sarabjit, and 6-year-old daughter, Arya.

He enjoys hiking the Pac Northwest landscape and trying new places to eat. He is a horrible golfer, but is taking lessons. And would like to get back to playing soccer after a 10-year hiatus.